DPA Celebrates Printers' Day-2023:

Since its inception in 2004 Delhi Printers' Association has been celebrating the Printers' Day on February 24 every year to commemorate the birth anniversary of the Father of the Art of Printing Johannes Gutenberg who was born in Germany in the 16th century. The occasion marks one of the greatest inventions in the history of mankind, famously called Printing, which spreads knowledge and imparts education to humanity.

This year DPA's Printers' Day was celebrated on February 24 at Central Delhi's well-known Arya Anathalaya (orphanage) in Daryaganj. The management of the orphanage had made all necessary arrangements for the function.

Soon after their classes were over for the day at 1.30pm the teachers lined the students up for their meal. A number of DPA's former Presidents, Office Bearers and EC members personally distributed the various items of food to the students one by one. With their food the students sat on long rows of mats and said their prayer in chorus before eating. It was a great sight to watch the students enjoying their meal. Later on, along with some general members of DPA, former Presidents, Office Bearers, EC members and staff also took the same lunch.

The function ended with the singing of the National Anthem.
