

virtual.drupa | Join in and register now

Dear Industry Colleagues,

From April 20 to 23, virtual.drupa is positioning itself as a major industry event with renowned exhibitors from around 30 countries, focusing on innovations and future technologies for the global print and packaging community.

In the Conference Area, you can experience a top-class, English-language program with international high-profile speakers who will give you valuable insights into current business trends and best practices. In two continuous live streams, we invite you to share knowledge and interact with international key note speakers, brand owners and experts from vertical markets. Speakers at the drupa special forums will provide important impetus and offer you insights into new business potential. In addition to technically relevant content, all presentations will also focus on global trend topics such as Artificial Intelligence, Circular Economy, Connected Consumer and Platform Economy.

Participation for visitors is free of charge. If you have already attended drupa.preview days, you are automatically registered for virtual.drupa.

All other potential participants are now invited to register

Register Now!

The Conference Area program will be opened on each of the four running days by a top-class international keynote speaker, whom we would like to recommend to you already today as inspiring sessions.

Innovation partner of the drupa cube and world bestselling author Michael Gale, star designer James Sommerville and strategy expert Dr. Gabrielle Walker.

For professional exchange at the highest level, innovations, new products and current technology trends await you in the Exhibition Space. Exhibitors will present themselves and their product portfolios to the global community in their online showrooms and interact with you via live web sessions and panel discussions.

After successful registration, the Networking Plaza allows you to network with your business partners, interact personally and arrange meetings in virtual meeting rooms during the event.

Plan your personal agenda now and contact exhibitors as early as mid-March via the Networking Plaza and the Matchmaking Tool!

Immerse yourself in a high-caliber program in the Conference Area and Exhibition Space, take advantage of the matchmaking in the Networking Plaza and get the best possible personal benefit from our event.

We are looking forward to your participation!

Your drupa Team
